The Palace,

Mysore.

21st August 1924.

Dear Mr. Matthan,

The Government Calendar for the current year shows that Mahanavami and Vijayadasami will be on 6th & 7th October respectively, but it has since been decided that these feasts should be observed in the Palace on the 7th & 8th respectively. I am just writing to let you know about the change.

Yours sincerely,

Jayagonal

General and Revenue Secretariat. | G.M. File No. 48 of 1924.

Serial No.

December 1912 revising the list of public holidays there is provision for Dasara holidays being granted for 11 or 12 days.

9) In the calendar for 1924 the number of Dasara holidays sanctioned is 11. As the festivals of Mahanavami & Vijayadasami have been decided by the Palace to be celebrated a day later than that shown in the calendar it is for consideration whether the Dasara Holidays should be extended by one day i.e. up to & inclusive of the 15th October 1924 or the mere change of the dates in respect of Mahanavami & Vijayadasami alone be notified as a correction to the calendar.

22/8. 10) As the holidays as at present gazetted extend 6 days beyond the Vijayadasami day there seems to be no need to extend the holidays.
